PLAN RETALIATION ON THEATRE FOR OUSTING OF FOOTBALL SQUAD

Angered at having been scored upon at the Tremont Theatre through the "bouncing" of thirty members of the Crimson football squad from the show-shop, all Harvard set itself firmly in a long line today and prepared for bitter retaliation.

The Harvard team was bar[red] downs in the theatre lobby by Business Manager Al Sheehan and Policeman George F. Snell, and were refused admittance, with the result that 30 perfectly good tickets were perfectly useless at Harvard today.

Some students are preparing to bring about retaliation measures against those responsible for the ousting of the football men.

Most of the indignation was directed against the accusation that the players, who attended the show —as far as the lobby—in a body, were drunk, although Patrolman Snell, who was on detail in the theatre, denied today that he had made any drunk statement against the players.

Tomorrow night is football night at the Tremont Theatre, but most of the ticket blocks were sent to New Haven for the Yale crowd and there was little indication at Harvard today that Crimson men would be in the audience.

Manager Sheehan of the theatre refused to talk today, except to tell Police Captain Goodwin of the Lagrange street Station, that the Harvard players were boisterous.

This was denied flatly, however, by J. W. D. Seymour of the Harvard Publicity Bureau, who declared that in an examination of the incident Harvard officials learned there was no boisterousness of any sort.

"The published report sent out that one of the men fell and that there was shouting and that one of the players resisted, is false," said Seymour.

While Captain Goodwin was siding today with his policeman and Manager Sheehan of the theatre in the controversy, the Harvard Crimson unleashed a bellicose blast against both the theatre officials and the police.

The Crimson, daily newspaper of the university, carried a two-column head on its story:

AGENT AND POLICE WET-BLANKET FOOTBALL THEATRE PARTY

"Too Drunk to Talk to," Is the Charge of Tremont Officials

And the story:

"The University football squad, for

Move to Check Stealing by Officials

Under a bill filed today by Senator Snow of Westfield, the director of accounts in the Department of Corporations and Taxation would be permitted to audit the books of every town and city in the State, except Boston, once in two years, or every year if requested.

Discrepancies amounting to thousands of dollars in nearly a score of cities and towns actuated Snow.

QUEEN MOTHER NEAR DEATH

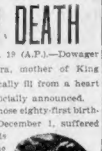
London, Nov. 19 (A.P.).—Dowager Queen Alexandra, mother of King George, is critically ill from a heart attack, it is officially announced.

The Queen, whose eighty-first birthday falls on December 1, suffered the attack this morning. The statement as issued from her home, Sandringham Castle, this afternoon reads:

"Her Majesty, Queen Alexandra, who for some time past has been failing in health, suffered a severe heart attack this morning. Her Majesty's condition is critical.

(Signed)

"K. G. WILLIAMS
"SIR THOMAS HORDER."



Queen Alexandra

King George and Queen Mary are at Sandringham, where they have been staying at York cottage since last Saturday.

It is recalled that Alexandra was reported late in June to have developed heart trouble and that a rumor of her death was circulated in London on October 16.

The grave nature of today's official statement has led London to expect the worst in view of her advanced age.

IRVING BERLIN AVERS HE NEVER MET YOUNG RHINELANDER'S BRIDE

White Plains, N. Y., Nov. 19 (A.P.).—Counsel for Alice Beatrice Jones, negro wife of Leonard Kip Rhinelander, wealthy member of an old Huguenot family, who is seeking annulment of their marriage, today began an attempt to prove that the youth was perfectly normal mentally and physically, and was not mentally deficient as intimated by his own lawyers.

Irving Berlin, song writer, today followed Al Jolson, blackface comedian, in denying he had ever met Mrs. Kip.

Berlin, returning to New York from Boston, said he was in Europe at the time Alice wrote to young Rhinelander that she had met him at a Summer camp.

Rhinelander denied on the stand today that he carried a powder puff and a box of white powder while on an auto trip with Alice. He also

'DAD' ASKS COOLIDGE TO SPEAK TO HIM BY RADIO

Plymouth, Vt., Nov. 19.—Rallying once more today after three new heart attacks, Colonel John Coolidge, octogenarian father of President Coolidge, requested that the President tonight, following his address in New York, to be broadcast, radio a personal message to the Colonel.

It was Pierson, who, with his wife, and Mrs. Sargent, was calling on Colonel Coolidge last Sunday, when he was taken ill with the first recurrence of his heart attacks since last Spring.

The Colonel was expected to get up to meals later today.

GRAINS—Wheat lower, corn easy, oats steady.

New York, Nov. 19.—Stock prices were steady in today's trading. The forenoon saw alternate periods of strength and weakness, but the soft tone, when it appeared, was mainly a shading of the day's highest prices.

The Bank of England failed to raise its discount rate, and this led speculators to believe the local Federal Reserve Bank rate would not be changed. U. S. Steel was up about 2 points. Chesapeake & Ohio was active and up around 3 to a new year's high. Calumet & Arizona rose around 4 points in reflection of increased dividend.

Du Pont was heavy, off nearly 4. Chrysler was off 4½.

Resumption of the advance in standard rail shares helped to restore confidence.

New York Central, Baltimore & Ohio, Louisville & Nashville and Norfolk & Western made a strong showing and St. Paul preferred spurted ahead on outlook for early reorganization compromise.

Early gains of two to four points included American Can, Sears & Roebuck, Hudson Motors, U. S. Cast Iron Pipe and Mack Trucks. Foreign exchanges were firm, with demand sterling unchanged at $4.84¼ and Italian lire strengthened by the announcement of a $100,000,000 loan for Italy.

LOVE CLEW TO MISSING GIRL

Northampton, Nov. 19.—That nineteen-year-old Alice M. Corbett, Smith College junior, vanished because of some mysterious happening is the latest theory in the search for the girl.

Alice has been missing now for six days, although a diligent search has been conducted for her and a reward of $1,000 offered for her finding.

It may be, it is claimed, that the breaking of her engagement with Thomas F. Sterling, Amherst College senior, through returning his fraternity pin, may have been the chief reason for her flight, or her flight was brought about by the same reason that resulted in the broken engagement.

But it strikes the searchers as peculiar that Alice, despite the fact that her engagement to Sterling was being kept secret, wrote specifically to her mother that she was not leaving college because of disappointment in love.

This line in her note is looked upon by some as an effort to lead a search away from the true angle.

CURLEY IN NEW MOVE TO CATCH ARGONAUTS

Fresh attacks against the Argonaut night club, whose much heralded opening proved a bit of a "dud" as far as excitement was concerned, were launched on two sallents today—one attack being in command of Mayor Curley, the other headed by Fire Commissioner Glynn.

The Mayor, armed with a brand-new amendment giving police access to night clubs such as the Argonaut, declared he will introduce it to the City Council at its next meeting, and seek to have it adopted in the city ordinances.

Commissioner Glynn, for his part,

CODMAN WILLS $125,000 TO MRS. LOIS RANTOUL

By a codicil to the will of James M. Codman of Brookline, dated Nov. 22, 1919, probated today in the Norfolk County Court, the sum of $125,000 is left, without any explanatory reason, to Mrs. Lois D. Rantoul, No. 101 Forest Hills street, Jamaica Plain.

To C. Frederick Rouse, "if still in the employ of the testator at his death," there was bequeathed $10,000 and all the testator's clothing.

Philip Stockton of Manchester, Mass., named executor and who filed a bond of $1,000,000, received all the personal property of the deceased, all the shares in the corporations in which he was interested and $5,000 additional.

Mrs. Cora Codman Ely of No. 121 Warren street, Brookline, was bequeathed the remainder of the estate to be divided between her and her children.

HARVARD FOOTBALL PLAYERS, COACH UP IN ARMS, DENY JAG

SHOW FOLK SAY MEN NOISY

whose entertainment an evening at the Tremont Theatre had been planned yesterday, failed to witness "The Cocoanuts" because of the cupidity of an officious police officer and the unreasonable temper of the Tremont Theatre business manager.

"Six taxis were engaged by the management to convey the players to the theatre. Upon alighting, the members of the party entered the lobby in a manner that was described by Manager Osborne, '26, as 'sober and quietly keyed up.'

"An officious arm of the law immediately appeared and declared that the men were drunk. They were asked to clear out.

ORDERED TO "GET OUT."

Manager Osborne, upon his arrival, spoke to the manager of the theatre, Mr. A. F. Sheehan, while the football squad quietly awaited the outcome of the conclave.

"Mr. Sheehan emphatically informed the men that they were drunk, 'too drunk to talk to,' and the bluecoat ordered them out of the lobby.

"At this point, Mr. A. S. Cheek, '26, captain of the eleven, appeared and tried his powers of oratory upon Boston's finest. His reasonable query, 'Who are the men who caused this trouble, and who is drunk?' was answered with an abrupt 'Find this out yourself and get out.'

"Before leaving, Manager Osborne and N. S. Howe, '26, tried to ascertain the number of the police officer, but when the latter was asked curtly for this information, completely lost his good temper and fairly shouted, 'Get out before I call the patrol wagon.'

"Seeing the futility of further argument, the squad abandoned the Four Mark brothers and sought justice at the police station. The sergeant in charge could take no action and advised filing a complaint with the mayor.

"After the players had left several attempts were made to secure a statement from Mr. Sheehan. At first he refused to talk with anybody about the action that he had taken. His manner throughout the proceedings has been described by all witnesses as 'very insulting.'

DEFENDS POLICEMAN.

"When a statement was finally secured, Mr. Sheehan denied that any dispute had occurred and declared that the players had actually entered the theatre. Whether further reason by the H. A. A. will be taken was not divulged last night.

Police Captain Goodwin, when seen by the Boston Evening American today, defended the stand taken by Manager Sheehan and Patrolman Snell.

"No official complaint against the officer has been made to me," said Captain Goodwin, "but if it was so, that the Harvard men were boisterous the management had a perfect right to order them out."

Patrolman Snell himself denied today that he had told any of the football men that they were 'half drunk.'

"I was there on detail, to do as I was told," declared the policeman. "I took the orders of Mr. Sheehan to eject them and they went peacefully.

Captain Dolph Cheek and Manager Osborne asserted emphatically today that none of the Harvard players drink, not only refraining from liquor during the training season, but forbidding all the year round.

"The squad had been at the Harvard Union meeting, they said, and went in taxis directly to the theatre.

Joe Crosby, left halfback, and Nat Howe, substitute halfback, were the first two men to enter the lobby, and as they went in they executed two or three dance steps. There was no noise and the steps were merely the over-bubbling of exuberance, the captain and manager asserted.

"I followed immediately after," said Manager Osborne, "and Crosby and Howe said, 'They won't let us in. They say we're drunk.'

"I burst out laughing, it was so absurd. Then I went to the manager of the theatre (Business Manager Sheehan) and asked him what the trouble was. He said: 'You're all totaller.'

drunk; you're too drunk to talk. Get away from here.'

"The rest of the bunch came straggling in, bringing in with Capt. Cheek, who had stayed behind to help Stafford, on crutches, out of the cab."

Here Captain Cheek took up the narrative.

"I saw the crowd and asked what the difficulty was," said Cheek. "They said 'They won't let us in, we're drunk.'

"I just looked at them for a minute in amazement, I could not speak. I was so nonplussed. Then the manager said: 'They can't go in. They're too drunk, they're too boisterous.'

"ABSURD" SAYS FISHER.

"Of course I protested, and Sheehan said: 'I don't care. You can't go in. You're drunk, too, so get your money back.'"

Robert P. Fisher, coach of the team, characterized the drunk charge as "utterly ridiculous and too absurd to comment on.

"Any intimation made by the officials of the Tremont theatre that the Harvard players had been drinking is so absurd that I do not care to discuss it," he said.

"I was with the team continually up to the time they left for the theatre. Upon being notified by the football manager of the regrettable incident I immediately got in touch with Mr. Sheehan by telephone.

"He would give no reasons for the stand taken by the theatre officials and absolutely refused to discuss the matter. I do not care to say anything further."

NO OFFICIAL ACTION.

Fred W. Moore, graduate treasurer of the Harvard Athletic Association, said there will be no official action taken by the university relative to the ejectment. He said the matter was too ridiculous to warrant this.

Moore conceded that thirty men arriving at the theatre at once might cause some noise, but asserted that he knows Osborne, manager of the team, charged with being "so drunk he wasn't rational," is a teetotaller.

HOW THUG SHOT WATCHMAN IS TOLD

Witness in Carbarn Murder Heard Furneau Scream When Bullet Hit Him

Pale and wan, his head swathed in bandages and his voice shaking, Augustus J. Ellery told a graphic story today in Superior Court at East Cambridge, of his experience with the gunmen who robbed the Waltham carbarn where James Ferneau, the watchman, was murdered.

Ellery took the stand to testify against four men on trial on murder charges, Joseph Devereaux, Edward Heinlein, John McLaughlin and Joseph Bennett.

Since the night of the holdup and murder Ellery has been near death at Waltham Hospital, his illness being due, according to District Attorney Reading, to a complete nervous breakdown as a result of his experience. It was expected for a time that the court and jury might have to adjourn to his home to hear his testimony.

Ellery, an employe of the Middlesex & Boston Street Railway, testified that he saw Heinlein enter the carbarn office but he could not identify any of the other defendants.

"At the point of a gun I was forced to lie down on my back on the floor," he said.

"The masked and armed man who stood over me asked me if there was anybody else around besides Wingate, who was there with me.

"I told him I didn't know. He barked, 'What!'

"Then I told him there was a night watchman. Saying, 'I'll get that piker,' the robber left and soon afterward I heard a shot and Ferneau's screams.

"Then I heard the clinking of money, and a man shouted, 'All right, Dutch. To hell with the change, get the bills.' The whole affair took ten minutes. When I thought they were gone I got up."

Ellery required the assistance of court officers in leaving the courtroom and he was taken home in an automobile.

Michael H. Fleming, State detective, testified he was present when Devereaux was arrested at his home in Brighton and told of the finding of several rolls of bills bound in the wrappers of the traction company. The money, he said, was found in a peach basket in a closet.

Fleming reviewed the raid which resulted in the arrest of the defendants and the finding of revolvers and ammunition in the home of one.

Policeman Joseph McGuire of Station 14, Boston Police Department, a member of the raiding party, corroborated Fleming.

BELIEVE NAVY OFFICER SLAIN AFTER GAY PARTY

San Diego, Cal., Nov. 19—Although a naval board of inquiry is conducting a secret investigation into the death of Lieutenant Nathan Green in San Diego Bay Sunday, it is known board members believe he met with foul play after a gay party at Coronado. Coroner Guy Woodward Green may have met death as the result of jealousy. He was the son of Justice Grafton Green of the Supreme Court of Tennessee. Six naval officers and their wives were ordered to appear before the board today.

JUDGE ANDERSON UPHELD IN N. E. OIL CASE DECREE

A denial petition in which the New England Oil Refining Company and members of a noteholders' committee sought to have Circuit Judge Anderson allow an appeal from his recent decree, was handed down today by the United States Circuit Court of Appeals. Judge Anderson's decree rescinded earlier reorganization of the oil company, so far as it affected certain creditors who might have accepted stock in settlement of claims against the company.

REFUSES TO TAKE BACK REAL BEER; 1,203 CASES

Uncle Sam wants "Eddie" Hart of Springfield to take his beer—1,203 cases of "real McCoy"—and "Eddie" won't take it. Can-ramagine that? The beer was seized in a raid and Hart was acquitted of violation of Mr. Volstead's act. Hart won't take his "brew" because he alleges it has been frozen while held by Uncle Sam in storage. THE STORY:

Beckhard's have been in business for 50 years in Boston. They have successfully operated 3 stores carrying men's clothing, furnishings, etc., at 72 Tremont Street, 279 Washington Street and 123 Summer Street.

They have just sold the leases to these three stores most advantageously and are temporarily closing their doors.

The stocks of these three stores have just been bought by Filene's Automatic Bargain Basement at great savings, but because of the amount of merchandise involved it is impossible to place the stock of the three stores on sale at one time, therefore FRIDAY at 9 we offer the stock of the Summer Street store at 1-3 to 1-2 off Beckhard's original prices.

—and it's just typical of how extraordinary bargain lots come to this different store.

And our first prices must be low or we lose 25% after 12 selling days, 50% after 18 selling days, 75% after 24 selling days and if anything is left at the end of 30 selling days it is given away to charitable institutions.

Poor Little Lambs
If It Were a Dog
The Biting Sheep
Too Busy to Die

By Arthur Brisbane

Copyright, 1925, by The Star Co.

LAMB'S WOOL was plentiful on the wild winds of Wall Street yesterday. This column recently warned against gambling in automobile stocks. Look at stock market today.

Unfortunately little men with weak "margins" will be the victims. A few speculative stocks dropped, and others, non-speculative, are thrown overboard, prices slashed, to meet losses. Quiet men that know real values pick up the bargains, and that is another chapter in stock exchange history.

Moral, don't gamble.

OUR GLORIOUS NAVY, not efficient in aircraft building or management, shows no lack of efficiency when it comes to worrying an unfortunate woman, widow of the Shenandoah's commander, called to testify about the killing of her husband.

She is informed by the learned court that she is not entitled to counsel. If somebody had stolen her dog, she would be allowed to have a lawyer. Why can't she have one when her husband has been taken from her?

The American people would like to have a convincing answer to that question.

THEY WOULD like to know why her lawyer was forcibly put out of the court. When a Cabinet officer steals a naval oil reserve he can have fifty lawyers and nobody objects.

When a woman's husband is stolen from her by official stupidity, she ought to have all possible protection—as many lawyers as she wants.

WHAT MRS. LANSDOWNE says is simple and true—namely, that her husband objected to taking the Shenandoah on a stupid political "State fair" trip. This writer can corroborate her statement.

Last June, Commander Lansdowne, in his wife's presence, told this writer at Lakewood, N. J., that sending Shenandoah across this country in the thunderstorm season would be highly dangerous, and in case a thunderstorm was encountered, would probably result in disaster.

THE SHIP WAS ordered to go across the country, and Lansdowne, who had crossed the ocean in a dirigible and knew his business, protested. He was overruled by ignoramuses, and their stupidity killed him. The least the navy can do is to treat his widow chivalrously, having killed her husband.

DR. FENWICK, of Bryn Mawr, says the United States is "shirking its responsibilities" in keeping out of the League of Nations, thus PREVENTING world peace.

The learned doctor reminds you of a gentleman accused of killing sheep. "I will kill any sheep that bites me," said he.

The United States preventing peace is a new idea. Next you will learn that the wicked United States started the war of 1914, pushing the countries of Europe into it.

CLEMENCEAU, the French "Tiger," reported dying on Tuesday, was working at his desk. He told reporters: "I am too busy to die." A good description of a man whose mental energy lasts past eighty.

Voltaire, always "dying," but too busy to die, enjoyed his greatest triumph in Paris when, past eighty-four, the crowd took the horses from his carriage and dragged him home after the production of his play. He might have lived to see the volume of his work, which was the French Revolution, had he not been, as he said, "killed by kindness."

TUT-ANKH-AMEN, the boy Pharaoh, was well decorated for his long rest. Magnificent were the designs, in pure gold, of different gods, with which his frail corpse was decorated.

There were the "upper Egyptian vulture, Nekhbet," and the "lower Egyptian serpent, Buto," winged scarabs, and sacred ewes.

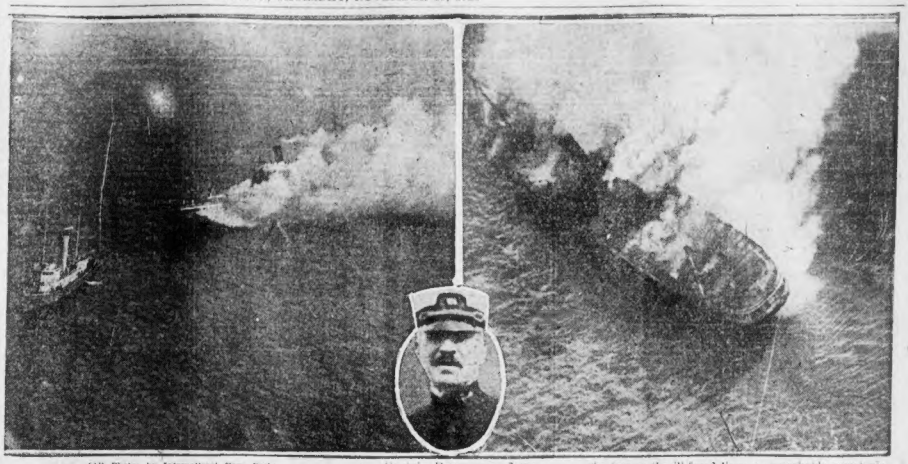
BURNING LINER AND GROUP OF RESCUED

Mrs. Arthur E. Stearns of Auburn, Me., and her children, Arthur, Charles, Beryl and Robert.



(All Photos by International News Reel.)

Coast patrol boat tugging to swing the Lenape into shoal water, out of the lane of ship travel. The liner was finally beached and scuttled, at a total loss of $3,000,000.

Captain Devereaux of the Lenape. He stood on the bridge till all were off, then jumped into the sea.

The last of the ill-fated liner, a remarkable aerial picture, showing how the fire devoured her. Today nothing but a distorted steel hull remains of a boat that carried 368 human beings, and all but one were saved.

HIS LIFE'S HOPE WIPED OUT IN SEA TRAGEDY

Lewes, Del., Nov. 19 (A.P.).—With shoal water slapping against its sides, the fire-swept hull of the Clyde liner Lenape lay beached here today, a twisted, smoldering monument to the heroism of its crew which won a thirty-mile race from the sea with flames belching across decks and the hold an inferno.

All but one of its 253 passengers and 110 members of the crew were landed safely by rescue ships which had responded to its midnight radio calls for aid after the Lenape had been beached in twenty feet of water.

Eleven passengers were injured, none seriously, in getting in lifeboats. The body of Robert Leverton of Williamsett, Mass., the lone fatality of the disaster, is at an undertaking establishment here. He was drowned in a futile leap as the vessel grounded behind the Delaware breakwater where rescue ships awaited it. For the 60-year-old victim it was the end of a voyage upon which he had embarked hoping for rest and a peaceful old age in Florida, where he was said to have made some profitable real estate investments.

The wrecked hull of the Lenape contains 49 motorcars, all the baggage and most of the valuables of the passengers lost in the haste necessary in abandoning the vessel.

A few of the passengers criticised the conduct of the crew as the burning ship fought her way shoreward and as the survivors were being taken off, but the great majority had nothing but praise. The heroism of Captain Devereaux and his men aroused the admiration of the coast guardsmen of Patrol Boat 108 which returned to Cape May after aiding in the rescue work.

Captain Devereaux stood on the bridge until the crew had left. Then he jumped into the water and was picked up by a lifeboat from the coast guard cutter Kickapoo.

U. S. COAST GUARD BOAT IS PULLED OFF BEACH

Gay Head, Nov. 19.—The Coast Guard patrol boat CG 135, which went aground six days ago on the Menemsha breakwater at the southwest end of Martha's Vineyard, was pulled off the beach today by the CG 131. The CG 135 was towed to Wood's Hole. Under command of Commander Jordan of Coast Guard Base 18, salvage operators have been going on since the 75-footer grounded. With special apparatus the operations, which were successful today, were begun at daylight Wednesday.

PASTOR'S SON SAVES BIBLE IN CHURCH FIRE

A valuable Bible, choir robes and other church articles were saved from destruction by fire today in the Immanuel Baptist Church on Adams street, Dorchester, by Merritt W. Chamberlain, son of Rev. Charles L. Chamberlain, the pastor of the church. Damage was estimated at $2,000, mostly by smoke. The cause of the blaze could not be determined. Young Chamberlain plunged into the thickest of the smoke to save the articles from the flames.

N. E. PHONE CO. DOUBLES ITS DIVIDEND

Riding a wave of prosperity following the $9,000,000 boost in rates, the New England Telephone & Telegraph Company today doubled its quarterly dividend to $2 a share.

The $2 quarterly rate can be maintained thoughout the coming year, in the opinion of Matt B. Jones, President of the company. The dividend rate per quarter was cut to $1 six months ago, before the rate increases were allowed in Massachusetts.

President Jones also announced that the stockholders had approved an increase in authorized capital stock from $100,000,000 to $150,000,000, and at their meeting in New York today the directors voted to issue $27,000,000 of the new authorized stock.

Shareholders of record November 30 will be allowed to subscribe to this new stock at par—$100 a share—thus getting $ per cent. return on their investment under the new dividend rate.

The $2 dividend declared today is payable December 30 to stockholders of record at the close of business December 10.

"It is apparent at this time that this dividend will be fully earned in the present quarter," said President Jones. "The management expects that dividends at this quarterly rate can be paid during the coming year, although the pendency of rate cases makes a definite forecast impossible."

In subscribing for the new stock, each shareholder can subscribe for one new share for each three shares that he holds. Shareholders may pay in full before December 31, or may pay half then and the remainder on June 30. Those who elect to pay in two installments will be allowed interest at 6 per cent. on their half-payment between December and June 30, 1926.

ARLINGTON DUELIST IS HELD AS SLAYER

Charged with murder in connection with the killing of Dominic Miaite in a razor and knife duel in Arlington last Monday night, James Bruzzese of Decatur street, Arlington, was held without bail for the Grand Jury today. According to the police, the men had an argument over a card game and repaired to the street to fight it out. Bruzzese armed with a knife and Miaite with a razor. The latter suffered wounds from which he died. Bruzzese appeared in court today with his face bandaged from forehead to chin.

In the same court Nicholas Cassone of Arlington was held for the Grand Jury on a complaint charging him with assault with a gun upon Guiseppe Pedullo, in an argument over money.

WEST END RAIDERS MAKE $4,000 HAUL

Raiding an apartment at No. 28 Prospect street, West End, police of the Joy street station today seized alleged moonshine which they value at 4,000. Three cars were necessary to carry 100 one gallon containers and 600 pint flasks of alleged moonshine. No arrests were made.

Can Drive Car 15 Feet Even if One Is Drunk

Driving a fast motor car fifteen feet, even if the operator is under the influence of liquor is not "driving while drunk" in the opinion of Judge Charles M. Bruce of the Malden District Court who discharged George F. Murray of Commonwealth avenue, Auburndale, arraigned before him on complaint of Medford police.

Testimony was that Murray staggered out of a Medford Square restaurant early in the morning of November 12 and after stalling his machine three times within fifteen feet was arrested.

Judge Bruce said he construed the statute as meaning that defendant must be driving "on a journey over a highway" in an intoxicated condition to come within the scope of the law.

'L' TO ASSIGN FIRST NEGRO CONDUCTOR

The first negro conductor on the Boston Elevated lines will be assigned to duty within a few days, it became known today.

This man is now "breaking in" on several of the routes and five others are said to be undergoing preliminary training. The first negro's name is on the list for assignment to duty with a number of other new conductors as vacancies occur.

He is the first negro to be placed on the eligible list although there has never been any rule of the company barring negroes.

2 KILLED, 3 ENTOMBED, IN KENTUCKY MINE

Madisonville, Ky., Nov. 19 (A.P.).—Two men were killed and three the Finley Coal Company by an explosion in the mine early today. Mine officials said the explosion was caused by a "windy shot." Two men escaped.

Cattle Fancier Dead

Syracuse, N. Y., Nov. 19 (A.P.).—Edward Alexander Powell, eighty-eight years old, in the nursery, livestock and real estate business here, died today of a heart attack. For five years he acted as president of the National Holstein-Fresian Association.

BAY STATE MAN DIES OF AUTO CRASH INJURY

Danbury, Conn., Nov. 19 (A.P.).—Reginald Mercier, 24, of Chicopee Falls, Mass., who suffered a skull fracture when his automobile overturned near Brewster, N. Y., Wednesday, died in the hospital here.

GLYNN STARTS NEW PROBE OF ARGONAUT CLUB

Ordered an investigation of the barring of the Rowe's Wharf entrance by club officials, who are said to have made a private way of the alley onto the wharf.

Declaring that he considered the entrance and exit of the wharf a public passageway, Commissioner Glynn sent Deputy Chief Power out to verify the report that the gate at the street end of the passageway was closed while the club opening was in progress.

Only holders of invitations were allowed to pass this gate and the sponsors of the Argonaut Club had two policemen there to help them enforce this edict.

DRY AGENTS GET THE GATE.

"Dry agents," who lurked on the wharf, having arrived before the evening's entertainment began, were asked to go outside the gate by William A. Gaston, Jr., president of the club organization, according to stories told by the agents.

Gaston is said to have declared that anybody on the wharf was trespassing. Commissioner Glynn said he intended to determine whether a night club can close the main entrance to the wharf.

As described today to the Boston Evening American by one of its prominent guests, the new night club's introduction to Boston was not very "peppy."

"A very sedate time was had by all," to paraphrase the words of the immortal up-country correspondent, judging from the account given by Robert Robinson, former Assistant District Attorney of Buffalo County.

"Yes, I was a guest," said Attorney Robinson, when asked if the report of his presence was true. "I stayed there till twenty minutes of two this morning and found it enjoyable, but there was nothing in the entertainment to shock the most strait-laced Bostonian.

"My friends and I ate a meal, for which the price was $5 a plate. During and after the dinner there was entertainment of a musical nature.

"The club rooms were jammed with guests. It was certainly a respectable party, one to which I should not be embarrassed to bring my wife and family.

NO "DEC" AND NO "HEP."

"There were no tableaux from Boccaccio or any other such author and none of the entertainment was questionable, and I will go on record as denying the reports that all the guests put on costumes before they took places in the hall. We wore evening clothes, that's all.

"Not a single thing happened to mar the sedate nature of the celebration of the opening of the club."

The long-awaited opening of the club is now but a brief page—a paragraph, to be more precise—in history.

And pretty dull history it proved.

Charles H. Innes, and Charles, Jr., were among the first and only celebrities to arrive. Father and son arrived accompanied by eight silken clad figures and hurriedly entered the hall. One of the three ex-policemen doing "guard duty" as doormen, merely nodded and threw the gates wide open to the Innes party.

The big gate at the end of Rowe's Wharf swung readily to those who had the high sign at the opening of the Argonaut Club. The chosen few were in evening dress, but the man in this picture was in conventional attire, but carried a suitcase. Chartable spectators explained that—perhaps—he had his dress suit in it.

Many folks who gathered on the outside, hoping to have a chance to look inside, rather expected a thrill or so. They were disappointed.

A large percentage of those who cluttered up the sidewalks in front of the club looked forward to seeing people give imitations of the month of March—go in like lambs and come out like lions. They, too, after waiting up in the chilly damp breeze that blew in off the harbor until dawn was almost cracking, were fooled. For the folks both entered and came out like lambs.

One of the first arrivals was a party in a rattly little car of the vintage of 1915. A man and two women emerged. The three husky policemen, as the outer guard gave them the once over, the up and down and the side-to-side, squinted at their admittance cards and grunted the word that proved the open sesame. The big gates were swung wide and the trio entered.

The little tin automobile was soon followed by more pretentious cars; taxi-drivers slithered their cars up and vied with the chauffeurs of privately-owned machines for a chance to drop their passengers before the mystic portals.

The first thrill given the onlookers was provided by a dashing blonde. She must have been a dashing blonde—for her hair was corn-colored and she dashed into the place; and while she dashed she puffed at a cigarette which left behind a wake of dainty perfume—something quite rare in the district.

Music did not break the ordinary stillness of the Atlantic avenue atmosphere. The rumbling of night freight trains did.

Lady Diana Manners and several other celebrities who had been invited mislaid their invitations or missed their automobiles or lost the club's address. They were not there.

U. S. MOVES TO ASSURE N. E. OF COAL SUPPLY

Pennsylvania Protests Lowering Freight Rates From Virginia Fields

Washington, Nov. 19 (I.N.S.).—To avert a possible fuel shortage in the Middle Atlantic and New England States, because of the anthracite strike, the Interstate Commerce Commission today began an inquiry into the reasonableness of freight rates on bituminous and semi-bituminous coal from West Virginia, Virginia and certain Pennsylvania fields into the northern territory.

William R. B. Airey, of Harrisburg, chairman of the Pennsylvania Public Service Commission protested against lowering of rates from West Virginia mines to a point where the operators would be able to underbid Pennsylvania operators for the New England trade.

Ignore Strike Settlement Rumors, Says Hultman

Chairman Eugene C. Hultman of the Commission on the Necessaries of Life today advised all local fuel administrators throughout the State to ignore rumors of an early settlement of the hard coal strike.

"If the consumers of anthracite desire to win this strike, which is directed against them, they should immediately put in sufficient stocks of fuel which, together with that already in their bins, will carry them through the Winter," he declared.

A survey made by Hultman has disclosed that up to October 30, 3,341,424 tons of hard coal have been received by Massachusetts.

"Based upon total deliveries of 8,115,717 tons last season," he said, "it appears that it will be necessary for our citizens to use about 1,500,000 tons of other fuels to carry them through the Winter, if no more anthracite is produced."

The use of prepared sizes of low volatile soft coal is discouraged by Hultman as a substitute because of the limited supply and the high price demanded.

Washington, Nov. 19 (A.P.).—Congressional attempts to deal with the coal problem were forecast today when Senator Borah sent out questionnaires to cities seeking information on the retail price of coal and the available supply. Senator Norris declared he stood ready to support legislation permitting the government to take over enough mines to guarantee an adequate supply of coal for household use and to prevent profiteering.

Home Builders

Above is Daniel J. Kane, exalted ruler of Boston Lodge of Elks. Below is Francis X. Mahoney, trustee and member of the Elks' building committee. Both will take prominent part in the dedication of the new $3,500,000 temple Sunday.

Elks from far and wide will gather next Sunday at 2 o'clock to attend the ceremony of laying the corner stone of their magnificent new temple at Nos. 271-279 Tremont street.

The building will be the home of the Boston Lodge of Elks. The stone will be laid by Daniel J. Kane, exalted ruler, and the principal address will be given by Joseph T. Fanning of New York, past grand exalted ruler.

State, city and lodge dignatories will be in attendance. The musical part of the program will be taken care of by the glee club of the Boston lodge.

The continued growth of the lodge made it necessary to move to larger quarters. Since 1910 the Lodge has been located at Nos. 8-10 Somerset street. The new home is being erected at a cost of $3,500,000.

KELIHER GOES HOME; BETTER

Vastly improved in condition, sheriff John A. Kelliher, who has been under treatment for an infected knee and a general breakdown at the Phillips House of the Massachusetts General Hospital, was back home today. The sheriff injured his knee during the recent mayoralty contest, but gamely continued in the fight until the campaign was over.

MILD WEATHER FOR H-Y GAME

Clear, mild weather is predicted for the Harvard-Yale game Saturday.

Showers are expected locally tonight followed by fair weather tomorrow. An extensive area of high pressure through the Mississippi Valley then assures clear weather for several days to come.

The wave of unusually moderate temperatures which has covered the entire country for the past two weeks continues and no cold wave is evident on any portion of the weather map.

DR. LITTLE DECLARES FOR FEWER BABIES

Lansing, Mich., Nov. 19 (A.P.).—Sterilization to weed out mental defectives and certain types of criminals, and birth control were advocated by Dr. Clarence C. Little, president of the University of Michigan, in an address here to the annual convention of State public health officers and nurses.

Dr. Little asserted he would rather suffer Purgatory, or whatever may be his lot later, and go down fighting for what he believes the right thing to do for youth, than to do the "correct" thing, believing it wrong.

"There is a need to slow down the production of children in a place where the child can be guaranteed proper care and education," he said. "To produce to the point where we cannot adequately care for them is un-christian. I am not suggesting a revolutionary thing. Limitation is now a fact in many families. The need of limitation of the population was admitted by the immigration limit.

The speaker made it plain that it is for the congested cities and places of poor environment that he principally recommends birth control.

Consumers' League Speaker Urges Compensation for New Disease Victims

Miss Katherine G. T. Wiley, secretary of the Consumers' League of New Jersey reported today at a meeting of the National Consumers' League on the ravages of "radium necrosis," the newest industrial disease, which started among employes of the U. S. Radium Corporation of Orange, N. J., and has caused six deaths.

She explained that the disease contracted by workers in applying luminous paint on clock and watch dials should be included in the list of compensible diseases under the Workmen's Compensation Act, elimination is found impossible.

Prominent among visiting delegates at the meeting were Mrs. Florence Kelley, president of the National Consumers' League; Mrs. Percy Jackson, president of the Consumers' League of New York; Mrs. Frederick Nathan, honorary president of the Consumers' League of New York and vice-president of the National Consumers' League; Mrs. G. W. B. Cushing, president of the Consumers' League of New Jersey; Mrs. William Gardner, president of the Consumers' League of Philadelphia, and Theodore H. Pierce, president of the Consumers' League of Rhode Island.

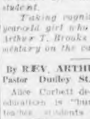
Lost College Girl's 'Bunk' Talk Scored

A COLLEGE education is "the bunk" and the college curriculum "teaches things of material and religious import that students "would be better off without," wrote Alice M. Corbett, missing Smith College student.

Taking cognizance of the serious question raised by the nineteen-year-old girl who professed herself changing into an atheist, the Rev. Arthur T. Brooks of Roxbury has written the following interesting commentary on the case:

By REV. ARTHUR T. BROOKS, Pastor Dudley St. Baptist Church.

Alice Corbett declares that college education is "bunk," and that it teaches students "to think things they would be better off without." Something is wrong. Is it the college or the student?



Rev. Arthur T. Brooks

Frankly, I believe that many colleges are to be blamed today for the enormous mental strain they place upon a conscientious student, if a student correspondingly does the tasks suggested by the various professors, together with the class-room work, there is absolutely no time for personal, mental and spiritual recreation or recuperation.

If Miss Corbett was a conscientious student it is possible that her excessive studies broke her down mentally. Certainly when she wrote the letter she was not herself, for parts of it were rambling and incoherent.

But, on these other hand, college bunkum is far from "bunk," and even with all the strain it imposes upon the student, I would strongly urge every young person to secure an education wherever possible.

Nine times out of ten the fault is with the student and not with the institution; and if with the student, then with the home from which the student comes. It would not surprise me, when this matter is sifted out at last, to find that the fault was in the home of the student.

If the home training is right, nothing taught in any college in the land can make an atheist of any student. Nor will any student from a home of fine, broad, common sense, religious training ever declare, unless mentally defective, that college education is "bunk," or that thoughts are engendered through college teachings that students "would be better off without."

Colleges are not factories turning out thousands of minds in the same mould. They are institutions established for the purpose of teaching students to see all sides of a subject and to think things through; thus to be better prepared for the great issues of life.

Alice Corbett seems to have found something worth while, as the expression "love and common sense are the only things worth living for," shows.

But if she has committed suicide her fine bit of philosophy is shattered, for "love and common-sense" would not allow her to end her life.

NOTED FLIERS GO TO FRONT FOR MITCHELL

Wade and Rickenbacker Uphold His Charges by Their Testimony

the Colonel would need about two days for his testimony.

Lieutenant H. W. Sheridan of Kelly Field, Tex., who observed the Hawaiian maneuvers from the aircraft carrier Langley, told the court that on April 26 two scout planes went up from the Langley, and a short time later "They attempted to land on the ship, and four airplanes were crashed."

"Then a flight of two planes caused a smash of four?"

"Yes."

Three of the four, the witness said, were "total wrecks."

Allowed to testify only after three objections by the prosecution had been overruled, Lieut. Sheridan also declared that in leaving San Francisco harbor, the Langley came within five feet of a collision with the battleship West Virginia. After that, he said, "the fleet stayed back of the Langley, "which went about twelve knots an hour. The Langley carried seventeen planes, but no planes left her from April 15 to April 26.

Reed M. Chambers of Detroit, who won numerous decorations as an aviator in France, testified at today's session that his plane never had been hit by enemy ground guns, although it had been within their range several hundred hours. He declared that reserve air officers should be given at least 100 hours flying a year.

Lieutenant Leigh Wade, one of the army world fliers told the court of various experiences during his 3,000 hours flying in every type of plane known to the aviation personnel.

Regarding the Loening amphibian machine, he said it was in the experimental stage and not, in his opinion, suited for Arctic service.

WADE TO QUIT SERVICE.

Turning to the world flight he said he believed the circumstances which attended the hop from Scapa Flow to Iceland constituted an "undue hazard of human life."

Lieutenant Wade replied in the affirmative when asked whether he was "considering leaving the army service."

"Why?"

"I feel there is very little opportunity offered me."

FOLEY SAYS MRS. LANSDOWNE IS MISTAKEN

Statement He Sent Her Contained Only What She Had Told Him

Washington, Nov. 19 (A.P.).—Denying that he had sought to influence the testimony Mrs. Margaret Rose Lansdowne gave before the Shenandoah court of inquiry last month, Captain Paul Foley testified today before that body that the statement he prepared for her consideration contained nothing that Mrs. Lansdowne had not said to me in the presence of three witnesses."

Captain Foley also declared he never had received any suggestion or communication from Secretary Wilbur or any other superior officer as to Mrs. Lansdowne's presence there. He had no communication with Secretary Wilbur concerning the Shenandoah inquiry, he said, from the day of his appointment as judge advocate up to last Saturday, when he formally asked to be relieved of that duty because of Mrs. Lansdowne's charge.

Mrs. Lansdowne was the only witness he had personally interrogated before appearing on the stand before the Shenandoah court, Captain Foley said, but he added that he had communicated with the survivors of the Shenandoah through the senior surviving officer as to what the procedure would be.

"Mrs. Lansdowne had not been summoned as a witness," he added. "She was appearing at her own request."

Captain Foley said that had he known Mrs. Lansdowne "as I do now, I would not have tried to help her."

"You had a childlike confidence in her?" asked the judge advocate.

"I had dealt with her as an honorable man, and I had childlike confidence that she would deal with me as an honorable woman."

The statement which it was intended she should read to the court was prepared, he added, in a form that would make unnecessary her cross-examination before the court and "with a view to leaving Mrs. Lansdowne in a dignified position." The widow of the former captain of the Shenandoah declared before the Mitchell court-martial last week that the statement was "false" and was an "insult" to the memory of her husband.

Captain Foley's testimony concluded the court's inquiry into the charge against him and it was announced that a finding on the charge would be handed down tomorrow.

Just before adjournment Lieutenant-Commander C. E. Rosendahl, senior surviving officer of the wrecked dirigible, denounced as "a slander of the dead" any insinuation that Commander Lansdowne took the Shenandoah on her fatal western flight when he believed her in jeopardy from the weather.

CAR INSURANCE MEN AGREE ON PLANS

To assist Insurance Commissioner Monk in fixing rates and administering the compulsory automobile liability insurance act passed by the Legislature, effective in January, 1927, representatives of stock and non-stock companies today unanimously accepted a report of a committee of ten embodying the principles which should underly the constitution of a co-operative insurance bureau.

The bureau, called the Massachusetts Automobile Rating and Accident Preventive Bureau, will deal with the following activities:

The establishment of rules governing the writing of public liability insurance and the execution of bonds upon such motor vehicles and trailers.

The development of a merit rating plan by means of which rates may be equitably adjusted to the hazards of individual risks.

The stamping, if correct, of such documents as the governing committee may require members to file with the bureau on risks which are subject to merit rating.

R. I. POLICE HUNT MAN WHO ATTACKED WOMAN

Providence, Nov. 19.—Police are seeking a man alleged to have entered the home of a young married woman and attacked her. She said the man entered her home while she was bathing. When she asked his mission he said he was a sewing machine agent. After trying to eject the intruder she claims the man attacked her. He escaped on a street car, eluding a crowd drawn to the house by the victim's screams. He is described as about 25 years old, 6 feet tall, of dark complexion, smooth shaven, darkly dressed and carrying a light topcoat. In deference to the young woman her name is withheld by the Boston Evening American.

We Helped!

Selling high quality groceries at consistently low prices has been the principle on which the 600 Brookside Stores throughout New England have grown.

Each one is a separate unit for Quality, Service and Economy. Each one is operated by a capable grocery manager who makes it his business to supply your wants in groceries.

You will recall how the Brookside Stores smashed all precedents by arranging to supply New England homes with a Finer, Creamier Milk at a much lower price than they had been accustomed to pay.

You will also recall at Thanksgiving time and Christmas time how New England's demands for freshly killed turkeys were met by the Brookside Stores—at reasonable prices.

Each succeeding year has recorded many more producer to consumer efforts—living costs have been lowered to the New England public—quality standards have been raised.

We helped reduce living costs through large volume buying, sound merchandising and a willingness to accept small profits.

Yes! We are going to have Thanksgiving Turkeys this year!

CAP'N JOE ROSS OF TUGBOAT FAME DEAD

Started With One Boat and Kept at It Until He Had a Fleet in Harbor

Captain Joseph Ross, known to everyone along the water front as Cap'n Joe Ross, died today at his home, No. 151 Pleasant street, Winthrop.

Captain Ross was a veteran tow boat man, having been head of the Ross fleet of harbor and bay tugs over a period of 35 years. The company operates eight boats of which were afloat today with their flags at half staff.

Captain Ross was born at Sconey Island, Shelburne, N. S., almost 71 years ago. About 50 years ago he landed in Boston and for two or three years was engaged in porgy fishing. He then went to New York and engaged in towboating.

After a few seasons he came to Boston where he continued to labor until he had his own boat. Steadily the fleet grew.

About 22 years ago his first wife died leaving in addition to her husband, a son, Irving, and a daughter, Peggy Ross. Captain Ross married a second time.

He is survived by his widow.

The funeral will be held from his home Sunday afternoon at 2.30.

GIRL RESCUED, 3 MEN SEIZED IN DOPE DEN

East Orange, N. J., Nov. 19 (I.N.S.)—A beautiful sixteen-year-old girl, said to have been kidnaped from Philadelphia, was rescued today from "The House of Mystery," an abandoned bungalow in the Orange Mountains, by a squad of police, led by two other girls.

A woman was found unconscious from drugs. Police, who arrested three men, said they seized twelve complete "dope" outfits, seven loaded revolvers and an arsenal of ammunition.

The two girls who led the raid are Helen Smith and Alice McGee, both eighteen, of Orange. They said three men picked them up in an automobile and kept them in the house against their will. "We got away while they were out," they said.

William Zabbo of Brooklyn, N. Y., reported he was "kidnaped" last Monday night and taken to the "Mystery House." He escaped.

2 MORE STRUCK BY CLUB KILLER

Toledo, O., Nov. 19 (I.N.S.)—With every available officer assigned to the work, police were hopeful today of arresting the "club killer," who for the second time this week has attacked a woman on the street after having previously killed two with a club.

Miss Freda Drahein, 31, is lying near death. Her skull is believed fractured and there are also deep scalp wounds. She was attacked as she was walking on a street. As previously the killer was frightened away by an approaching automobile and fled.

Mrs. Emma Hatfield died September 28 of being clubbed May 24.

Lydia Baumgartner, 24, was clubbed November 17, but was saved by the approach of a motorist

MAYOR CURLEY WILL BE 51 TOMORROW

Quiet Party at Home Will Mark the Day: Mrs. Curley's Day Is 29th

Mayor Curley will be fifty-one years old tomorrow.

The Mayor didn't say so, but Mrs. Curley let it slip when she visited City Hall today.

The Mayor is to have a birthday party, cake, candles and everything.

It will be a quiet party at the Curley home in the Jamaicaway with a few personal friends invited.

The Curleys have three birthdays this month, but one—Monday last, the anniversary of the birth of Dorothea, who passed away last December—was shrouded in sorrow.

Mrs. Curley's birthday is Sunday, the 29th.

MRS. COOLIDGE ALL SET FOR SHOPPING

Goes to Museum on Reaching New York, but She Will Also "Buy Early"

New York, Nov. 19 (A.P.)—Five minutes after her arrival today with the President, Mrs. Coolidge had started on a sight-seeing and shopping tour about the city.

Entering an automobile at the station, she left the official party to continue to the hotel where the President will stay during his visit here, and accompanied by a few friends was went direct to the Metropolitan Museum of Art.

The Pennsylvania Terminal was crowded some time before the Presidential party arrived.

The visitors were given a rousing welcome as they made their way through the station to the waiting automobiles. President Coolidge smiled and doffed his hat repeatedly to the cheerers.

President Coolidge went at once to the Waldorf, where tonight he will address the State Chamber of Commerce.

The party, which was met by a committee from the New York Chamber of Commerce headed by President Frederick H. Ecker, included the president's secretary, Everett Sanders; Frank W. Stearns, Dwight W. Morrow, chairman of the President's air board; George Harvey, former ambassador to Great Britain; Major James F. Cheap, the White House physician, and military and naval aides.

KIP SAYS HE DIDN'T CARRY POWDER PUFF ON TRIP WITH ALICE

denied asking the girl to wear long sleeves.

These questions were taken to infer that Kip had tried to mask his wife's color.

One of the "mystery" letters written by Rhinelander to his bride was introduced. The letter was merely shown to Rhinelander for his examination and was not read. Previously four photographs were introduced, one showing Leonard in pajamas, another showing Alice in a night gown, both taken at the hotel Marie Antionette, where they stopped for a week in December, 1923.

During a conference held over the "mystery letters," which were introduced late in the day, there was a hum of surprise in the courtroom. further increased when Justice Morschauser announced adjournment of the trial until tomorrow.

In response to a question, Mr. Miles said:

"There has been no withdrawal of the case, and there will not be."

"You were a perfectly human girl below, weren't you?" asked Lee Parsons Davis of defense counsel at the resumption of Rhinelander's cross examination.

"Yes," said Rhinelander.

Rested after his ordeal of testimony when he was questioned closely on intimate details of his love affair, Rhinelander took the stand today, apparently recovered from his fatigue. His eyes were bright and his speech clearer.

Mr. Davis brought out that Leonard had grounded at the head of his class at the ranch school in Arizona, that he was the editor of the school paper, "The Track," and that he had been a frequent contributor of articles and editorials to the paper.

To illustrate one point, Mr. Davis read a humorous poem written by Rhinelander took the stand today. Leonard, and brought out that he had been active in athletics, especially tennis.

Shifting again to the color question, Mr. Davis asked Rhinelander about his first meeting with Alice and her sister, Grace, in 1921, bringing out that Leonard had no suspicions as to their color. Rhinelander admitted that even now he could not see traces of Negro blood in the Jones family.

"When you first saw Alice," asked Mr. Davis, "was there any indication in your mind that there was negro blood there?" "No," responded the witness.

"Now that you know there is colored blood in the Jones family do you see traces of it?" "No," again answered Leonard.

"When you saw both Alice and Grace together in the strong lights of the theatre lobby which you visited, was there any lurking suspicion then?" "No," was the reply.

Rhinelander admitted that his sense of propriety had been offended when he discovered that his companion on his first trips with the Jones girls was a married man.

The two sisters stood up in court at Mr. Davis' request and Leonard said they looked about the same as when he had first met them.

There is a possibility that Philip Rhinelander, Leonard's father, who tried to break up the friendship of his son for the negro housemaid, will testify.

Asked whether the elder Rhinelander would take the stand, Isaac N. Mills, counsel for the plaintiff, said: "Wait until we come to that." Beyond that he would not commit himself.

The previous line of questioning which brought out testimony on what happened at the Hotel Marie Antionette when Leonard and Alice went there the first time for a week, apparently had a marked effect on court attendance today.

Sent Postcards to 'Mamma and Papa'

As early as 8 o'clock, two hours before the trial was resumed, the courtroom was crowded and the doors shut.

When Rhinelander was asked if he realized that it was he who was dragging "his wife in the gutter," his lawyer protested, saying the defence was trying to break down the witness physically.

Postcards to the defendant's white mother and mulatto father, addressed to "Dear Papa and Mama" and signed by Rhinelander, were introduced.

They were written while he and Alice were on their tour of New England together before their marriage, supposedly chaperoned by an acknowledgedly mythical "Mr. and Mrs. Mathews." Rhinelander did not think the deception was wrong on his part, if the girl was willing.

"Is that the way you have been brought up to view those below your station in life?"

"No," said the witness after some hesitation.

Other letters in which he described himself as "raving," were read into the records as follows:

A large part of the session was featured by many tilts between Mr. Mills and Mr. Davis, Leonard's lawyer objecting to the repetition of certan intimate questions. "He's trying to break him down physically with these questions," Mr. Mills complained. Most of his objections were overruled.

Pounding away on the color question, Mr. Davis brought out that Leonard thought George Jones, Alice's father, was a white man, he did when you first saw him?" "No, he looks darker now," a victim of jaundice. Mr. Jones had told him, he said, that when he was a boy in England many persons had asked him if he was suffering from this illness.

The steady fire of questions began to tell on young Rhinelander and he contradicted himself several times. Pointing to Mr. Jones, Davis asked:

"Do you see his color now?" "Yes. He is rather dark," replied the witness.

"Does he look the same now as "Did you know what he was and did you care?"

"No, I didn't know, but I didn't care. I didn't give it a thought," said Rhinelander.

Rhinelander said he thought Jones was Spanish after he had received a letter from Alice in which she told him of meeting a refined Harvard man.

"He called me a Spanish kid," Alice had written, "and I said I was very glad I was a little Spanish."

"You studied Spanish in Arizona," resumed Davis. "Did you try a few simple Spanish words on him?" "No."

"Do you remember what Jones told you after the first newspaper reports of your marriage?" "No."

"Did he tell you he was a mulatto?" "No."

"He told you he was pure white?" "He did."

"He told you he was an Englishman and you believed it?" "Yes."

Asked how long he had lived with Alice after reading in the newspapers that she was a negress, Rhinelander answered:

"I had my doubts on November 13 on Alice's color, but when she told me her side, I decided not to leave her."

"Did you doubt her on the succeeding days until the 20th when you left her?" "I believed her when she told me she was white," answered Rhinelander.

Turning to the automobile trip in August, 1924, Davis sought unsuccessfully to show that Rhinelander had asked Alice to wear long sleeves to conceal the color of her arms.

"What was your idea in making Alice wear long sleeves?" he asked. "I didn't make her," Leonard responded.

"Did you ever say to Mrs. Jones that you liked Alice to wear long sleeves?" "No, but I told Alice that I favored long sleeves."

"Isn't it true that you carried a powder puff with white powder in it in your car on this trip?" "No," returned the witness.

Woman Minister Gets Seats at Kip Trial

White Plains, N. Y., Nov. 19 (A.P.).—The Rev. Lavinia Verrill Howe, daughter of Professor A. E. Verrill of Yale University, today sent to Lee Parsons Davis, counsel for Mrs. Leonard Kip Rhinelander, in the annulment suit in progress here, this letter: "As a minister I am writing some

33 "Dears" in Kip's 4,496 Word Letter

White Plains, N. Y., Nov. 19.—There were just 4,496 words in the longest loveletter of the hundreds figuring in the suit. Painstaking and curious readers of it have made the following additional compilation of Rhinelander's use of expressions of endearment:

Dear—33 times.
Your Boy—17 times.
Darling—16 times.
Love—12 times.
Sweetheart—11 times.

KIP SENT ALICE MILLION THANKS

articles on this case for religious magazines and would appreciate it if you can secure pieces in the courtroom for my companions, a clergyman and myself. My work is such that I am obliged to learn all I can about the mental reactions of humanity and this is a most absorbing case and one touching on many phases of religious work."

Mr. Davis gave the letter to Justice Morschauser who directed that seats be set aside for the party.

POLICE SHIELD KIP FROM CURIOUS EYES

4 'NO-POTATO' DAYS A WEEK

The war of housewives against high potato prices was waged vigorously, and while Senator Francis of Charlestown asked Mayor Curley in Boston to seize potatoes in the Boston & Maine freight yards, the housewives of Providence voted to observe four no-potato days each week.

With Mrs. Phillip H. Mitchell, president of the Providences Housewives' League, leading the fight, the directors voted for the four potatoless days a week and voted to ask co-operation of every woman in Rhode Island.

Mrs. Mitchell declared an investigation with Mrs. Oscar L. Heltzen showed speculation in "spuds," with potatoes rotting at terminals.

The Providence price is from 65 to 80 cents a peck, while in Boston today the price remained the same, with 65 cents in chain stores and as high as 90 cents in some independent places.

St. Stephen's Reunion

The annual reunion of St. Stephen's Church, North End, will be held in Hibernian Hall, Dudley street, Roxbury, tomorrow night. The chairman of the general committee is Henry Fitzgerald, assisted by Mrs. Catherine McFarlane.

Yes, and Kip Was Jazzy Poet of '23 Period

This poem was written by Kip Rhinelander in November, 1923, in his college paper in Arizona:

By AMES and RHINELANDER.

Old Man Hulick, the sweet-pea farmer,
Regularly meets his music maiming;
Practices diligently all the time
To equal and rival friend Rubinstein.

He's an incubator fan of the rarest sort;
He hatches chickens and calls it sport;
Dear Old Dinty with his kinky rope,
He's got ambition, but there's not much hope.

TWO ARE EXECUTED IN NAUTCH GIRL TRAGEDY

Bombay, Nov. 19 (I.N.S.)—Shafi Ahmed and Shem Rao Dighe were executed today for murder of Abdul Kadir Baula, wealthy Bombay merchant. The execution marks the close of one of the most sensational love episodes in the history of India. Baula was slain on January 12, 1924, while riding in an automobile with Mumtaz Begum, the Nautch girl, who was once the favorite of the Maharajah of India. Nine men were arrested for the murder. Five others involved in the killing are now serving life sentences.

FIND LYNN BOY DEAD IN BROOK

An all-night search by Lynn police and a posse of citizens and Boy Scouts for seventeen-year-old Frederick Godfrey, missing from his home at No. 135 Bowler street, ended today with the finding of his body in a brook off Magnolia street.

Patrolman Joseph Gannon found the body. The boy was an epileptic and the police believe he was stricken while fixing muskrat traps.

PRIEST GIVES TO CHURCH IN WILL

The sum of $800, distributed among several Catholic institutions, was bequeathed by the late Rev. James H. Nulty, former pastor of the Church of the Blessed Sacrament, Hough's Neck, whose will was filed today in Norfolk County Probate Court.

One hundred dollars each is left to the Catholic Board of Indian Missions, the Negro Missions in the South and to the new pastor of the Hough's Neck church for masses for the deceased.

The Home for Destitute Catholic Children, Boston; the Working Boys Home, Newton; the House of the Angel Guardian, Boston; and the Society for the Propagation of the Faith each receive fifty dollars.

The residue, the amount of which is not given, was bequeathed to his sister, Margaret Nulty, No. 76 Highland street, Amesbury.

Take Land for School

Mayor Curley today approved the taking of 218,883 square feet of land at Arlington and Elm streets and Central avenue, Hyde Park, by the schoolhouse department for the new Hyde Park High School.

THUG TROY OUT OF PADDED JAIL CELL

His Counsel, Wm. R. Scharton, Forbids Him to See Visitors

Worcester, Nov. 19 (A.P.).—John F. Troy, alleged thug awaiting trial on charges of highway robbery, is again in his regular jail cell after two days in a padded cell, according to the deputy sheriff in charge at the jail. Troy is not to be examined as to his sanity unless further developments force such action.

Troy became hysterical Tuesday night, and it was thought wise to confine him in a padded cell for his own good and not as a punishment.

The young man has not been given the privileges of the jail yard for his exercise. Instead, as is the custom in such cases, he takes his constitutionals in the jail corridor.

Get Out That Old Medal and Give to the Snail!

Washington, Nov. 19 (A.P.).—After a delay of two and a half years, the government printing office is distributing in volume form the report of the commission headed by John Hays Hammond, which inquired into the coal situation in 1922 and 1923.

The report was made public when it was submitted to Congress in the Spring of 1923, but its printing was not authorized until last Spring.

Printing office officials say the crush of other work has prevented an earlier distribution.

MACRI LAWYER AND WITNESS IN CLASH

Observer of Bagnano Shooting Unshaken by the Grilling of Defense

Litchfield, Ct., Nov. 19.—A vivid description of how John Bagnano, New Haven "shelk," met his death from bullet wounds claimed by the State to have been inflicted by eighteen-year-old Olympia Macri, was told her by Steve Puleo today in the court where the unwed mother is on trial for the murder of her former sweetheart.

A tilt between witness and Defence Attorney Koletsky came after Puleo had told his story of what he saw of the shooting at the Palace Theatre.

"It was shot in the back, wasn't he?" Koletsky asked.

"I don't know where he was shot the first time inside the lobby. I only saw the shots when he was outside lying on the sidewalk."

"You heard the previous testimony as to where he was shot, didn't you?"

"I take no stock in the others' testimony," the witness replied.

SAW GIRL SHOOT.

"You don't believe the testimony?" Koletsky demanded.

"I don't pay no attention to it. Why should I say what someone else says. I told you what I saw."

Puleo told how he was standing in the order lobby of the theatre at the time of the first shooting and saw John Bagnano burst through the door, holding his hands to his side, run out into the street and fall to the sidewalk.

Olympia, he testified, followed him, and while the witness, who had followed Bagnano to the street and was standing within eight feet of him, "gave it to him" as he lay with arms outstretched on the ground.

He testified that he saw one bullet strike the prostrate man in the neck.

Cross-examination failed to shake his testimony.

With hair slicked back, wearing a new silk shirt and flashy tie, Frank Barsetti of New Haven, who up to today had been wearing an old army khaki shirt, then took the stand for the State.

State's Attorney Alling asked if he had seen a paper bag in the car that took Bagnano to the hospital.

"Sure, it was the cop's lunch. He handed it to me to hold," replied the witness.

"What became of it?" asked Alling.

SOLVES LUNCH MYSTERY.

"Guess I ate it on the way to the hospital," and for the first time in either trial the mystery of Officer Relwing's missing lunch, for which he searched the car at the hospital, was brought to light.

Alling then asked what else the witness, who is a dancer, had in his hand and again the court was amused by the reply, "the diseased Kelley."

After quiet was restored it was found that the witness referred to the hat of the deceased.

Attorney Koletsky, noticing the change in the dress of Barretti, asked the witness:

"Are you an actor?"

"Almost," was the reply, and the court had difficulty in repressing a smile.

"Did Detective Giannelli buy you those new clothes?"

Barretti indignantly shouted: "Where do you get that stuff? I buy my own clothes; I don't let any guy buy them for me."

"Where did you buy your new gloves?"

"In the 5-and-10-cent store."

Judge Hinman then interrupted and asked if the court had not heard enough about the clothes.

Queen of Desert Harem Has Her Hair Bobbed

London, Nov. 19 (A.P.).—Pilgrimages to dentist and barber have brought two queens from the seclusion of their desert harems to Jerusalem. They are the wives of King Hussein Ali of Hedjaz and Emir Abdullah of Transjordania.

The Emir's wife, says a dispatch to the Daily Express from Jerusalem soon will return to her husband with bobbed and perhaps shingled hair. The Queen of Hedjaz has undergone treatment by the same beauty specialist, but has not submitted to having her hair bobbed.

English and American women are helping them while away the time between trips to dentist and barber.

PORTERS BEAT UP KLANSMAN IN BACK BAY

Then He's Arrested for Distributing Klux Circulars Without License

The business of distributing Ku Klux literature, which has been flourishing for several mornings past in the Kenmore square section, turned out very badly today because two porters reported early for work.

Figuring that if an early bird catches the worm two early birds ought to garner gloriously, the porters arrived together decidedly prematurely and administered a pair of sound beatings to a gentleman who has been distributing Klan literature in Kenmore buildings for several mornings.

On each morning these porters and employes of other buildings have been accustomed to finding the lurid literature slipped halfway under office doors and tucked into every conceivable place where it was likely to be found and read.

It was not a coincidence that the two colored porters got to work early today, and the police don't believe it was a coincidence that the Klan distributor came to be attacked by two angry employes of a certain building.

But when Patrolman Spear of the Back Bay station, answering the shrill and piercing vocal SOS's of the suffering Klansman, arrived at the spot, he found only the victim present—much the worse for wear and also tear.

At the station the Klan distributor was invited to accompany the policeman to Roxbury Court that the cop might swear out a warrant for the Klansman himself, on a charge of distributing handbills without a license.

CURB SHEIKS USE RADIO TO TRAP GIRLS

Elderly Disciple Tells How 'Master' Stopped Rain

A Girl's Soul Stirs and She Wonders Why; Going Out Into the World to Learn of Love

"Has any woman ever told you that your eyes leave sort of a clammy trail down one's face and throat?" Nancy was scornful with the Count

NANCY HAWTHORNE, motherless, lives in an English Country village with her father. She has an experience with Curly Collins, a country boy she has befriended. She discusses what occurs with her father. Then comes a strange stirring and she decides to see the world.

In Paris she meets Cornelia Evans, daughter of an American millionaire. The girls form a studio partnership. Cornelia writes her brother, Lloyd and his Oxford chum, Bob Whittaker, to visit them.

They give a housewarming in the studio. Nancy meets Jean de Courcy, French cavalry lieutenant, who pursues Cornelia. She also meets Count de Bercy Mormal, the man who accosted her in the street.

CHAPTER 10

JEAN DE COURCY presented himself in front of Nancy with a plate of salad and a glass of wine. "I can see an empty corner over there," he said, "will you not come?"

They went across and ensconced themselves.

"Tell me, Mademoiselle. Are you a relation of the R. A. James Hawthorne?"

Nancy's eyes lit up like stars. It hadn't ever occurred to her that her father's name might be known in other countries. The idea was thrilling. She was so proud of him and pleased with Jean that she nearly dropped her salad.

"He's my father!" she said.

Oh, but this is delightful!" cried Jean. Not only I have been to see of his exhibition in Bond Street, but I bought one of his pictures.

"You did. Which one?"

"It is called 'I think the Cross at Sunset.'"

Nancy beamed. I watched him paint that. It is where we live. It is round the corner from the house.

Jean leaned forward eagerly. "Perhaps you would care to come to my home with Cornelia and see the picture? My mother would be glad, and all my sisters."

"All of them!" she smiled up at him.

Jean grinned. "There are four, all ages. The youngest is what you call a 'little nipper.' He held up a hand about three feet from the floor.

Nancy nodded. "Cornelia will be a fool if she doesn't marry him," she thought. "I'd love to meet them," she said.

"Thank you," said Jean. Almost as though he had read her thoughts, he dropped his voice. "Mademoiselle went on quickly, "Mademoiselle, if you think I am 'out of order' to say in England will you help me?"

"Help you?"

Jean kept his eyes on hers. "I love Cornelia," he said simply. "Perhaps she has told you?—Twice she has refused to marry me. She talks about having a good time first!" He smiled and shrugged his shoulders. "That does not mean anything, does it? You are more serious-minded, Mademoiselle, and you are her friend. Perhaps you could help her to get it into her head that she could have an even better time if she were married—to me!—Will you?"

"Will Mademoiselle permit me to change places for a few minutes with my friend de Courcy?"

The Count's voice caused them both to start.

Jean rose reluctantly, unable to

BRIMBLECOM IN FIGHT FOR NEWTON MAYORALTY

The mayoralty contest in Newton developed into a three cornered fight when [illegible] and [illegible] nomination papers at Newton City Hall. The other two candidates are Mayor Edwin O. Childs and John H. O'Neil, a Waban lawyer. Although Mayor Childs is believed to be unbeatable this year, Brimblecom has a chance due to the presence on the ballot of voting which allows the voter to indicate both first and second choices. Brimblecom was formerly a State representative.

The GINTER Co.
"There's a GINTER Store in Your Neighborhood"

The critics all agree on this new Sunshine Soda Cracker

THE new Sunshine Soda Cracker has gone before its public—better than that—gone into it. And oh the "Ah's" and "Yum's" that follow the eating thereof.

This is true testimony of the delicious taste that the Sunshine Bakers have developed in this soda cracker by a new method of baking discovered in the Thousand Window Bakeries.

Made by the Full Grain Process

Something quite new in the art of baking has put these plump, fine-tasting crackers on your grocer's shelves.

Our process includes a different blending of the flour, a different way of working the dough, a new way of cutting and even a specially shaped cracker as an aid to through and through baking.

Aside from its taste, this new cracker is high in calories (energy value). Four crackers contain 100 calories.

Serve these crackers with jellies or peanut butter to your youngsters. In this way you can always depend upon their unlimited cooperation in getting the food energy of these crackers into their young bodies.

Sold only in the bright red package

Note the shape. Three good reasons for the notched sides (patented): 1. Splits in two for sandwiches. 2. Less crumbling. 3. In baking, the notches form many vent holes in the sheet of dough, giving greater crispness, quicker baking and better flavor.

SUNSHINE CHOCOLATE FINGERS—those generous candy-cakes that fairly burst with goodness. Honey cake heaped with marshmallow, all coated with pure chocolate icing

Made in the "thousand window bakeries" by the Loose-Wiles Biscuit Co.

O-Cedar MOP

WHY not let a real mop do the hard part of your housework? Don't bend and stoop and kneel to clean and dust your floors, linoleum and woodwork. Thoroughly, quickly, effortlessly, the O-Cedar Mop will take that household worry off your mind.

But be sure you get the genuine O-Cedar Mop. The stores are full of imitation mops made to look like the O-Cedar Mop, but whose prices are the best proof that they don't contain O-Cedar quality or workmanship.

We make O-Cedar Mops out of long-strand, top quality cotton. It's a big, thick, sturdy, long-wearing mop that doesn't get scraggly with a little use. We put it into a special O-Cedar Mop head of triangle shape to reach corners and padded to protect furniture.

The handle is the O-Cedar steel ferrule type which will not wear out. Easy to attach. Easy to detach. But stays firmly in place when in use.

Stores everywhere carry the O-Cedar Mop. Look over your dealer's stock today. Your choice of 2 sizes—$1.75 and $1.25. It isn't economy to pay less. A good mop can't be sold cheaper. And remember there is also O-Cedar Polish which will renew and beautify your soiled wood surfaces because it "Cleans as it Polishes!"

HARVARD HAS EDGE MENTALLY

Yale Has the Advantage in Strength and Speed, Says Treat

By HERB TREAT,
Boston Evening American Football Expert.

IN THE Harvard-Yale tilt on Saturday much depends on the mental condition of the two teams. If Harvard wins the season will be considered a success, if not—

Herb Treat.

If Harvard loses, it will be all right if the team plays football.

As for Yale, win or lose, the season is a failure. At New Haven just as much stress is put on losing as winning. Price ... Harvard

Therefore, Harvard will have the edge mentally for they have everything to win while Yale has nothing to win, as the season is a failure anyway.

Some authorities are of the opinion that the Crimson football season is a success regardless of what happens.

The fact remains that Harvard has only one loss—Penn—and the Holy Cross, Dartmouth and Princeton games were each considered for the Big Three.

Yale's season was a failure, it seems, unless it can defeat Harvard to take the sting out of the latter's defeats.

Never in the history of the [illegible] series have the odds been so great against Harvard.

Take 1921 for example. Princeton beat Harvard 9-0. The following Saturday Yale beat Princeton 13-7. Thus Harvard's game the next week was won by the Crimson and Blue.

Yale seems to have more power this season on paper and in fact. The offensive of both teams are similar, being a direct attack based on power and speed.

Yale ... both speed and power. To beat Yale the Harvard team must keep the ball in its possession most of the game, as Harvard usually puts too much ... against any defense.

WE SHALL SOON SEE WHAT WE SHALL SEE

At left is Coach Fisher of Harvard hurling defiance at Coach Jones of Yale, whose restort is the undertaker's dirge.

UNDERTAKER SONG

Oh! more work for the undertaker,
'Nother little job for the casket maker!
In the local cemetery they are very, very busy with a brand-new grave;
No hope for Harvard!

Cook and Kirby Join Sharkey's Camp

George Cook, Australian heavyweight, has been secured to act as sparring partner to Jack Sharkey, New England heavyweight champion, who is training at Jim Maloney's Gym for his battle with Jim Maloney at the Suffolk A. A. on November 30 in aid of the Santa Claus Fund of the Boston Evening American.

Cook is also carded to box at the Commonwealth Club's show next Tuesday night and so will get a fine workout for himself.

Sam Kirby, Roxbury lightheavyweight, has also been added to Sharkey's list of sparring partners. Kirby will be used to speed up the champion while Cook will feed him on the rough stuff.

Jimmy Armato White of New York is in town to help train Jim Maloney who is working out at Sharkey & Hayes' Gym. Johnny McCann plans to secure a couple of more ranged sparring partners, as Maloney is punching like a Dempsey.

Secretary Tommy Burke of the Suffolk Club reports the greatest demand for reservations in the history of Boston boxing.

Look Out!

Look for the picture of the Quaker on every package of oats you get. That's the only way to get the "Quaker flavor" —the old Scotch flavor—that you want

WHAT you want in oats is flavor. Everything else takes second place. Oats originally a Scotch dish must have true Scotch flavor to be at its best—real "Quaker" flavor.

Nobody has yet succeeded in imitating Quaker flavor. That enticing and toasty Scotch tang of the Quaker brand.

People who ordinarily don't take to oats, find delight in that unique flavor. Once you taste it, you are spoiled for ordinary oats. So when asked to "try" a substitute, say "NO."

That flavor is not the result of guesswork but of certain Quaker milling processes applied to the finest, plumpest oats that grow. Some 50 years were spent in perfecting it.

Quick Quaker cooks in 3 to 5 minutes. It makes the finest, the most savory and quickest of hot breakfasts.

Due to Quaker milling methods, it supplies, too, the "roughage" you need to make laxatives seldom necessary.

CERBERUS, according to ancient Greek Mythology, was the watchdog that guarded the entrance to the underworld regions. He was usually pictured as having three heads, a serpent's tail and a mane of serpents' heads.

If they were as good—Z. their name would be Tre-Jur

EVERY woman who has seen Tre-Jur Compacts and Face Powder knows that she has before her, the greatest money's worth that the world has known in toiletries.

But the important thing is to see them. The important thing is not to be put off or cajoled into buying one of the many "just as goods". Remember—if they were just as good, their name would be Tre-Jur.

The exquisite quality of Tre-Jur Face Powder—the amazingly beautiful box, its generous size—make an indelible appeal to one's love of value. The price?—but 50c. The sheer beauty of Tre-Jur Compacts and the inventive genius with which they are made—proclaim themselves at a glance.

Ask for Tre-Jur Toiletries by name, see them. Upon our judgment we'll gladly rest our case.

Tre-Jur Compacts . . . The THINEST, as slim as a coin and gently convex—the TWIN, a delightful purse size convenience, with powder and rouge of true quality. They're both priced at $1—that's the interesting part of it. At your favorite toilet goods counter or by mail from us. Refills always available.

ON "BEHIND A WOMAN'S TEARS"

There is a DIFFERENCE Between WEEPING and
CRYING, but FEW MEN
KNOW IT.
When a girl CRIES
She can be COMFORTED.
But a CHILD also
Can be PACIFIED
By a TOY, a KISS
or a CARESS;
But when a WOMAN
WEEPS, it is SERIOUS;
The WOUND is DEEP
And TOYS would only
INSULT! It
WHEEDLES CRY and WIVES WEEP, for Wives AS A RULE
Have more
INVOLVED.
When SOME girls cry
It is often
RIDICULOUS, but when
A WIFE WEEPS it is Always TRAGIC, and
The way MOST MEN act
In BOTH cases is PATHETIC. Sometimes
WIVES merely CRY
And sweethearts WEEP,
But THAT, of course, is ANOTHER STORY.

DAILY SHORT STORY

A [illegible]

Blond Giant

[illegible] was high and wide and heavy; a regular blond giant, and the look upon his face was not pleasant. He held his head high in the air and, as he towered above the smaller individuals about him, cast disdainful looks down upon them. His air was that of a god among earthlings, one got the impression that he was distinctly annoyed at having to touch and come in contact with the common, ordinary, garden variety of just people.

He shoved them out of his way with impudent carelessness and not until he stood clear at the front of the loading platform did he stop. Satisfied at last that he had attained to the most advantageous position upon the platform he stopped and surveyed the crowd through which he had pushed and shoved his eyes, plainly saying, "Let anyone dare [illegible] him.

[illegible] the big man suddenly shot forward and out, directly down upon the track in the path of the oncoming train. There were exclamations of horror, several women fainted.

The express train came to a stop with a complaining screech of the air brakes. The trainmen and station guards began to yell a volley of [illegible] and orders. Several policemen [illegible] rushed down the stairs and attempted to quiet the crowd, which was acting like a stampeded herd.

The officers, notebooks in hand took down the names and addresses of several witnesses eager to [illegible] it had been a hit. The big man had [illegible] upon the heads of the crowd in order to obtain the desired position where he might [illegible] himself to [illegible] the [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

FOXY GRANDPA'S BEDTIME STORY

BUNNY SOLVES A MYSTERY

By Foxy Grandpa

"THESE are certainly funny looking trees with these pegs growing in them," said Bobby as we walked through a jungle on the Malay Peninsula.

"Yes," said I. "I've noticed a lot of them. I don't think they grow in them, Bobby. I think they've been plugged in. Look at this one. They certainly have been put in by man."

"They make a regular stepladder—like the things you climb up a telegraph pole," suggested Bobby.

"They are a stepladder," said Bunny. "That's one time you guessed right, Bobby."

"But you don't see anything in these trees to make it worth while going to all that trouble, do you?" asked the boy.

"Been taken away," said Bunny. "But they had to build the steps to get it."

"Get what?" asked Bobby bursting with interest.

"What they took away," replied Bunny in his most aggravating tone.

Bobby gave up questioning Bunny. He might as well have asked questions of the Sphinx, and you know yourself the Sphinx is not very talkative.

We went on our way and Bunny as usual was scampering on ahead like an advance guard or a scout.

The first thing we knew Bunny came tearing back to us. The ape was of the these excursions of his. His eyes were shining and his ears were straight up in the air as if they were held there by wires.

"Now you can see it," said Bunny. Hurry up."

"See what?" asked Bobby, running behind Bunny as fast as his two legs would carry him. But you know it is awfully hard to keep up with Bunny. You see he has the advantage over us by two legs.

Nevertheless we kept up a pretty good pace and soon came to an open space in the woods.

There were several natives, busy around a tree. We drew closer and in a minute we saw that they were driving plugs in the tree like the other ones which had puzzled us.

They smiled and we smiled, but of course we couldn't say anything to each other, so we just all grinned to show there was no hard feelings.

The plugs all in, one of the natives mounted the tree. Up he went, step by step, just like the repair man goes up a telegraph pole.

What was he after, I wondered. But soon we saw. For there hanging on the tree was the biggest beehive I ever saw.

Then what do you think that brown fellow did? He lit a bunch of grass which he had in his hand, and holding the burning grass held it right under the nest of bees!

As the smoke arose and filled the hive, out of their home fell hundreds of bees. And as soon as the bees fell to the ground the Malays under the tree gathered them up and put them carefully in a basket.

The bees all driven out of their nest, the man on one ladder loosened the bee-hive and brought it down carefully.

"Um," murmured Bobby. "Plenty of honey there. But what are they going to do with the bees?"

"Eat them, of course," said Bunny. "They like them better than the honey. But, I suppose it's every body to his taste."

Don't dope YOUR Cough
It is not wise to use remedies which depend upon "dope" such as narcotics, chloroform, cannabis or tar products. They may stop your cough temporarily by numbing the tissues, as most cough mixtures do, but this is not enough.
The inflamed air passages must be soothed naturally, the germ-laden mucus loosened and expelled in order to effect a lasting recovery.
PERTUSSIN assists Nature to accomplish these results in a remarkably short time—and it is absolutely harmless.
Sold by all druggists in large and small bottles.

Is that Cold really Anemia?
CHRONIC chest or head colds are more often than not the result of anemia. Unless the blood is in proper condition, the system is a ready victim to not only colds, but indigestion—headaches and many other far more serious troubles.
The body depends upon rich, red blood for its vitality—its endurance—its resistance to disease of every kind. And if the blood stream is weak—watery—anemic—you are robbing yourself of your own strength.
For more than 30 years, thousands of physicians have prescribed Gude's Pepto-Mangan as the sure way to put the body in condition to withstand constant germ attacks. They know that unless the blood is built back by aiding Nature in giving it the iron and manganese content it lacks, no permanent cure can be effected.
Start today on Gude's Pepto-Mangan. The results will surprise you. For Gude's Pepto-Mangan is quickly assimilated by the blood and almost instantaneously distributed to every part of the body, renewing its latent strength.
You can get Gude's Pepto-Mangan in either liquid or tablet form at all druggists.

Squeeze the thumb hard. Unless it reddens again immediately, Anemia is indicated.

FINANCE

BY B. C. FORBES

The country's biggest bankers were quite prepared for violent breaks in the motor stocks and some other stocks which had been daringly forced up by speculators of great wealth or, at least, great credit. In practically every bank and banking house, from J. P. Morgan and Company and the National City Bank down, words of warning were dropped against blindly following the lead of the boldest of the market manipulators.

But one found extraordinary unanimity of opinion that in most divisions of the market quotations had not gotten our favorable conditions and prospects.

Charles E. Mitchell, president of the National City Bank of New York, the largest in America, after analyzing home and foreign business conditions, with particular emphasis on the restoration of the equilibrium between the farmer's dollar and the manufacturer's dollar, declared: "If we keep our heads we have nothing to fear. That is a very important 'if' in our situation, not only now but in the future.

"Advancing prices develop the speculative instinct inherent in man and lead to those who grey upon men, realizing the length to which that instinct will go.

"This is no time for men to disregard their better judgement in the analyzing of that which they may contemplate doing."

* * *

Said Percy H. Johnston, president of the Chemical National Bank: "Our favorable conditions have brought about an tremendous advance in the security markets. It is not unnatural that in such an advance speculation should appear, and in some instances run beyond what prudence and real values would warrant. The general public should not buy stocks with its eyes shut, but should do some analysing for its own account."

* * *

President John McHugh of the Mechanics and Metals Bank declared: "It might come about that speculation in stocks would be carried so far as to cause money rates in the street to be marked up. But this is not at all likely to happen unless things reach a point where all conservative citizens would agree that it was time for something of the kind to happen."

MILLIONS FOR XMAS SAVED IN BOSTON BANKS

By FRANK H. MELOON,
Financial Editor.

Millions of dollars are on deposit in Boston banks as special savings for the purchase of gifts and general good cheer for Christmas. The sum to be distributed in Chicago, it has been stated, will not exceed amount to $25,000,000. Greater Boston banks will undoubtedly have awaiting members of the "Christmas clubs" an equal or larger sum. Neither in Boston nor in Chicago are absolutely accurate figures available at this time.

Accumulation of these funds holds a lesson that in honest value for savings passes any aftermaths of money making. It carries the possibilities of reasonable thrift in a most forceful way, and this in the city of good old Ben Franklin!

Christmas savings throughout the country for the current year are estimated, by 20 per cent. greater than for 1924, says H. P. Kawll, president of Christmas Club, Inc. This amount will be distributed in a few days by 4,500 banks co-operating with Christmas Club in a fifty-weeks saving plan. There are 7,000,000 members of 1925 club an increase at 17 per cent over 1924.

At the fourteenth anual meeting of the Boston Wool Trade Association, Walter P. Wright was elected president. Other officers chosen for the coming year are Claude H. Kellogg, vice-president; F. Nathaniel Perkins, secretary-treasurer. On the executive committee are William Arthur Dupee, William G. Fallon, Arthur E. Gill, Burt Moran and Stanley H. Ramsay. On the arbitration committee are: John H. Nichols, Cheney E. Cook, Harold L. Cummings, Frank M. Eshleman and Frank H. Prall.

Edwin F. Atkins has resigned as a director of the Second National Bank of Boston. William H. Claflin, Jr., of the firm of Tucker, Anthony & Co. has been elected to succeed him. Mr. Atkins has served on the board of directors of the Second National Bank for many years, and is resigning from this and other boards in order to be relieved of many of his responsibilities.

Half of America's railroad traffic will be moved electrically within the next generation, predicted B. Rigsbard, director of heavy traction of Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing Company, in an address before the Second National Bank for many years, and is resigning from this and other boards in order to be relieved of many of his responsibilities.

It looks as if the motor shares had acquired a new crop of "shorts."

Stock Exchange seats look high at $150,000, but on "return on the investment" should be selling much higher. Profits of holders who do a strictly $2 per 100 business, without any investment outside cost of seat, vary. We have a prediction from one of the wealthiest financiers worth more than $100,000,000, that Stock Exchange seats will be selling closer to $250,000 than $150,000 with in five years. He bases his forecast on the rapid increase in listings and the fact that membership is limited.

U. S. SMELTING AFTER NO PROPERTY IN CANADA

Wire to the effect that Boston-listed United States Smelting, Mining & Refining Co. had taken an option on the 68 per cent. interest in the Flin-Flon gold-copper property in northern Manitoba, are without foundation in fact. President C. G. Rice of the Smelting Co. says his company had the proposition put up to it some months ago but it was decided not to go into the matter.

So far as development campaigns are concerned, the United States Smelting Co. has ample use for its facilities in the upbuilding of its Mexican properties, where several rich strikes have been recently made, and inthe development to its Alaskan gold dredging enterprise.

GINTER'S EARNINGS FOR 9 MONTHS RISE

Ginter Co. reports for nine months ended Sept. 30 net profit of $420,945 after depreciation and federal tax, equal after allowing for 6 per cent. preferred dividend requirements, to $2.19 a share on outstanding 160,000 no-par common shares, against $379,388, or $1.85 a share, in the same period of 1924.

Net profit for the third quarter, $100,660, equals 45 cents a share, against $153,785, or 80 cents a share, in the preceding quarter and $73,213, or 39 cents a share, in the third quarter of 1924. Sales for nine months totaled $3,907,965, against $3,958,848 in the first nine months ended Sept. 30.

PHILADELPHIA BANK RATE IS UP TO 4 P. C.

Philadelphia Federal Reserve Bank has raised its rediscount rate from 3½ to 4 per cent.

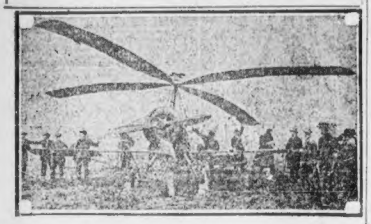
This Plane Flaps Its Wings

It May Be the "Coming Machine," and It May Not



This is the Cierva "Autogiro." It rises direct from the ground, and can "hover."

If you throw a visiting card through the air with a spinning motion, it will go a long way, its wide surface upheld by the atmosphere.

That's about all there is to the wonderful flying machine as thus far developed. The planes of the aeroplanes are the visiting cards upholding the machine. Sometimes we have two planes, or three planes, and it is like fastening two or three visiting cards one above the other and spinning them through the air.

And we add to our visiting card an engine that keeps it going. Of course, man's ingenuity will get far away from this primitive type of flying machine, which is only a start, being to air navigation of the future what the oxcart was compared to the modern locomotive.

This picture shows the attempt of a Spaniard, Juan de la Cierva, to solve the flying problem. His machine, tried in England with results called "startling," can do things that no airplane has ever done. It flaps its wings as you have seen a crow flap its wings, rising from a cornfield. It goes up into the air straight, instead of requiring a long run along the ground before it can rise.

And when it gets up in the air by flapping its wings it can "hover," that is, stay in the air in one place, as you may have seen a lark hover above its nest in the field.

And instead of coming down slanting, requiring a long glide, this machine can come down straight. It might light in the public square of a great city. If it carried the mails it could alight on top of a postoffice. It MAY be a start in the way of solving the final flying problem, although the trials were not entirely satisfactory.

This machine looks fragile, more like a water-bug skimming across the surface of a pond than a machine destined to resist the power of storms.

The real machine when it comes will rise up and down, with power entirely beyond this sort of machine.

This editorial is printed because it may start some young or old American mind to thinking. Somewhere in some brain already born there exists the idea of the real flying machine. It may be in several brains. Fortunate he or she who makes of that idea PRACTICAL REALITY.

A Story of Two Careers

Americans Should Be Thankful for the Opportunities Offered in This Country

The stories of two careers printed in the newspapers of Tuesday should give occasion for grateful thought to every Bostonian, every American.

George H. Jones began life in the bleak little northern town of Carthage. He was too poor to buy his own schoolbooks. Today he heads one of the most powerful industrial combinations ever devised by man, the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey.

Alexander Martynoff began life as the son of a wealthy landowner in southeast Russia. Every gift of luxury and beauty was his. Today he is glad to have a job as night watchman outside the Fifth avenue home of Finley J. Shepard.

Enough is told of the careers of both men to warrant the deduction that they both made the best of their opportunities.

Young Jones supplemented his first job by going to a business school. He worked so hard his eyes gave out. He sold typewriters. He got a job as stenographer in one of the Standard Oil subsidiaries. He studied law. And always when a vacancy appeared somewhere ahead of him his was the head that stood up above the crowd with evidence of capacity to do more than his older job. That is what brought him his reward.

Young Martynoff entered the service of the Czar's police. He became chief in the little town of Saretoff. He was good enough to be promoted to the head of the force in Holy Moscow.

He was such a good police chief and, more, such a cultured gentleman with a knowledge of literature and pictures and music, that the revolution didn't utterly destroy him. It threw him down and out of Russia. But, always, he carried on. But his gifts, apparently great, are nullified. Instead of the opportunity to exercise them, he paces the chilly sidewalk in front of a palace he might have owned in the old days.

Why this difference?

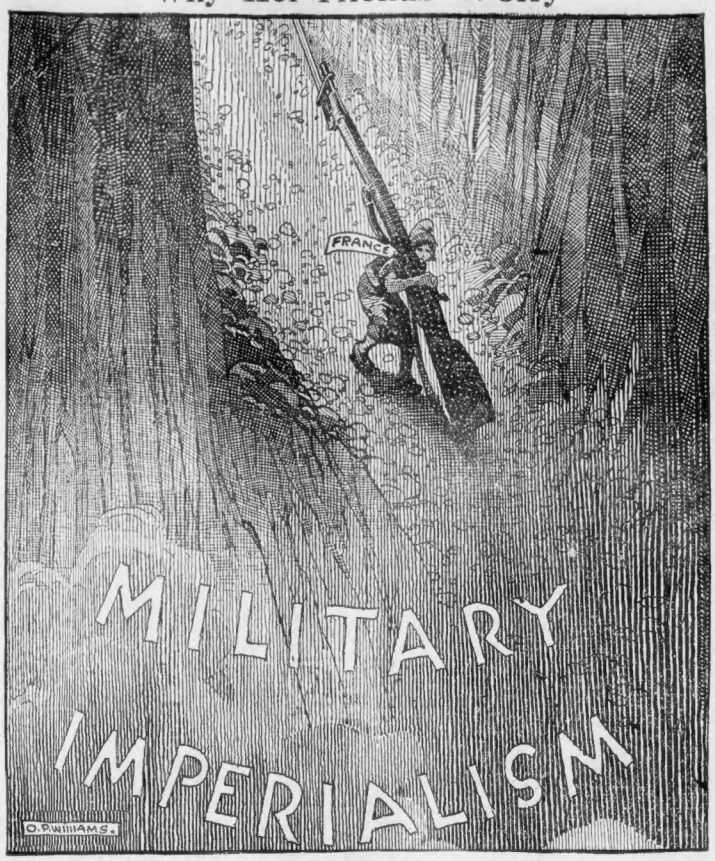
The United States gives every man a fair deal, whether he be rich or poor. There is a field for young Jones, the carpenter's son, to work himself up. It is possible for Mr. Shepard, the millionaire, to hire a man to protect his property of nights.

As Martynoff paces the pavement or paints his little boxes all he can hope for is a return some time to a Russia the future of which no man can predict.

As Jones sits in his big office, at the head, really, of all the Standard Oils, he can vision literally millions of men kept busy at profitable tasks through his organization and what his organization provides. As long as he keeps steadily in mind the ideal of a fair deal for rich and poor alike he will get a fair deal, rich, as he got it poor.

As time swings on towards Thanksgiving, Bostonians, Americans, can be thankful more profoundly for this, perhaps, than for all their other many blessings.

Why Her Friends Worry



FRANCE'S downward path isn't even easy. She drags a crushing burden. She thinks she is toiling upward, so heavy is her burden. She thinks she sees ahead the glories of the first Napoleon and of LeRoi-Soleil, Louis XIV.

That burden is a musket that costs her FIVE BILLION FRANCS A YEAR. In the world of Europe today it is as useful as a periwig. And it is as dangerous as mediaeval plumbing might be.

All France has to do is drop the thing. Let her turn around and face the light. Let her face those other glories that have been hers and can be hers again, the glories of Pasteur, of Voltaire, of Fabre, the glories of the noble French mind.

If she does her way up will be far faster than her way down. And her end will be truly glorious.

MEDBURY SAYS—

By John P. Medbury

ONE of the most discouraging occupations in the world for a woman is to be a Butter and Egg man's wife.

SHE stays home on the farm and keeps warm with hot water bags while he passes out fur coats in the city.

HE goes to New York and takes in all the midnight cabarets, but the only bright lights she ever saw came from a lantern.

ONE guy owned the biggest butter business in the country, but his wife had to stick home and eat oleomargarine.

SHE had to send him a telegram one morning and ask him if she could have an egg for breakfast.

HE wired back, "Okay, but don't eat any of the fresh ones."

HE was the tightest farmer that ever visited Broadway. A chorus girl begged him so hard for a fur coat that he went home and killed a cow.

HE sent it to her the next day and told her it was mink.

LISTEN, WORLD!

By Elsie Robinson

THEY took young Bert Healey down to the County Jail today. Automobile theft. Three youngsters in the gang. This is the fifth auto theft they've tried to pull.

And everyone's so sorry for poor Mrs. Healey.

Bert is only nineteen. He seemed such a fine youngster until a couple of years ago. Then he began staying out at night, hanging around pool-halls and dance-halls and going with a tough gang. His mother was simply distracted over it. She asked for prayers at church about it, but that didn't seem to do any good. For last Spring Bert ran away and she never heard of him again until she read about his arrest in the papers.

Yes, the neighbors are all so sorry for poor Mrs. Healey. They go and sit with her and cry over and tell her that he was a wicked boy to break his mother's heart this way. Mrs. Healey cries too but she always ends by saying—

"WELL, AT LEAST MY CONSCIENCE IS CLEAR. NOBODY CAN SAY I DIDN'T DO MY DUTY."

But the Visiting School Teacher, and certain other neighbors, have a queer look in their eyes when you speak of Poor Mrs. Healey and her Bad Boy.

They are thinking of a woman's nagging voice that ran on and on, day and night, and turned what might have been a happy home into an inferno.

We've a queer idea about these consciences of ours. We think of them as separate organs, spiritual partners of our lungs and livers, dependable, reliable mentors of our conduct. If they don't kick and squirm there's no need to worry and we think that God's in his heaven and we're in the clear.

A pretty comforting theory, but, unfortunately, it's the bunk. Our consciences AREN'T separate organs. They WON'T work automatically.

MEDITATIONS OF A WIFE

By Helen Rowland.

THE trouble with the average girl is that she doesn't know the difference between a heartache and a vanity complex.

Sometimes, all that is left of love is a shining memory—but a woman will forgive a man for anything on earth, except for robbing her of that.

Helen Rowland

A man regards a woman's love first as an unattainable dream, then as a precious gift, then as a right, then as a matter of course—and last, as a punishment.

* * *

A woman begins "emoting," at seven, when she weeps over a broken doll—but a man make up for it, by imagining that he is "emoting" at seventy, when he marries a blonde flapper for "love."

* * *

The way to handle a man before marriage is as different from the way to get around him, after marriage, as the way to cheer him before dinner is from the way to please him after dinner.

TRUTH ABOUT EFFECT OF SACCHARIN

By DR. FRANK CRANE

ABOUT forty years ago Professor Ira Remsen discovered saccharin. It is a white powder that is several hundred times sweeter than sugar.

It is one of the products of that most amazing substance in all the world—coal tar. Out of that black, sticky substance the modern chemist, as a magician brings rabbits and pigeons and goldfish out of a silk hat, has brought some of the most valuable medicines in the doctor's kit, perfumes that outdo the flowers, dyes that have revolutionized the dye industry and flavors of infinite variety.

At first saccharin, the creative chemist's substitute for sugar, was hailed as a boon to mankind.

Then the gentlemen with money invested in the sugar business got busy. Their craft was in danger. They started and have industriously kept up a propaganda against saccharin.

Over and over you see the statement that this substance is injurious to health.

It is not.

Taken in small doses, which is the only way anybody takes it, it has no effect whatever upon human tissues.

It is not a food. It is a condiment. Of course if it is claimed that it is a food, that is untrue. As a food substitute for sugar it is a fraud because it has no nourishing quality.

But if the purpose is simply to make a food tasty by being sweet, it is not a fraud.

Anything taken in doses too large is injurious. Sugar itself is harmful if you eat too much. Common salt is a poison if too much is taken. Hydrochloric acid is formed in the gastric juice and is essential to health, yet an overdose would kill you. So to say that too much saccharin is injurious is piffle, though true. For so is too much of anything.

Thousands of diabetics have been frightened by anti-saccharin hints darkly thrown out by reputable physicians. They need have no fear.

They can take what little saccharin they need to sweeten their coffee with perfect impunity.

It does no harm to sweeten a can of corn, or a stick of candy, or a glass of soda water with saccharin. All the possible harm it could do would be to place the food value of sugar. But all the food value of the corn is there, and the saccharin does it no harm, and people do not eat candy nor drink pop for nourishment, but for fun.

The Referee Board of the Government has carefully investigated this matter, and what is said above is based on its findings.

The reader therefore can depend upon it that, in the language of the board's report:

(1) Small quantities of saccharin up to three-tenths of a grain per day are without deleterious or poisonous action, and are not injurious to health.

(2) The addition of saccharin to foods, in large or small quantities, does not, so far as the findings of this board show, affect in any way the quality or strength of the food.

(3) The use of saccharin in food in quantities injurious to health is improbable, since its extreme sweetness would render it disagreeable to the taste.

EARTHQUAKES AND THE ATMOSPHERE

By Garrett P. Serviss

Noted Astronomer and Writer on Scientific Topics of Popular Interest.

A READER inquires whether earthquakes directly or indirectly cause any atmospheric disturbances after they take place.

I would not say positively no, and yet I should as soon expect a storm to cause an earthquake as an earthquake to bring on a storm. There is still a great deal for science to find out about the cause of earthquakes.

Quite recently we have had a proof of that fact in the complete failure of a professedly scientific prediction of a great earthquake, which didn't take place. And if the cause of earthquakes still remain more or less mysterious, the same is true of their effects.

Minds Shaken

Minds are as much shaken as bodies during a great earthquake. The sudden and overwhelming terror that seizes all the spectators, and the enormous impulse given to their imaginations, render any exact observation practically impossible.

Excited fancy takes the place of cool attention. It has been said that an ominous atmospheric calm has been noticed before some destructive earthquake. But this may have been noticed before some destructive earthquake. But this may have been an after product, of the nervous tension that the first shock produced.

Yet there is some testimony tending to show that an earthquake may produce preliminary effects that find curious ways of expression.

For instance, it is on record that in advance of the great shock that destroyed Messina in Sicily, in 1908, a church bell mysteriously rang three times before the stroke fell that leveled the city. Many who went out of doors to see why the bell rang were saved when their houses crashed into ruin.

Here, apparently, earth movements sufficiently strong to sway the bell in its tower occurred without being recognized as the first stir of an earthquake. But I would rather ask than try to answer the question whether any tremors of the ground have an effect upon the atmospheric condition. If it be true, which is often affirmed, that birds and other animals show uneasiness and alarm before an impending earthquake, the cause is probably to be sought in their keener sense of tremulous motion of either the earth or the air. Heavy sounds also often attend earthquakes and these, though originating under ground, of course set the air into vibration, but this could not be expected to produce any general or widespread effect on the atmospheric condition.

It would perhaps be easier to maintain, theoretically, that great atmospheric disturbances sometimes cause earth shakings than to defend the converse proposition. We know as a matter of fact, that a "high pressure area" in the atmosphere piles up an enormous weight upon a relatively limited portion of the earth's crust, bringing to bear an unwonted force of millions of tons, and it is logical to assume that such extra pressure, rapidly applied in some place where a slip of the underlying rocks had already been prepared by subterranean changes, might precipitate an earthquake. Atmospheric agents such as powerful, longblowing winds heaping the tidal waters to unusual heights along seashores, may also be invoked as possible aids to subterranean conditions in pulling the trigger for earthquakes.

But the chief cause for earthquakes is internal, arising from causes which we have many reasons for believing must always be going on within the globe, but which escape our direct observation.

Surface Effects

We can learn of them only through their effects upon the surface, although whenever a shock occurs inside the earth the waves that it sends through the globe, traveling thousands of miles in all directions, and even, it is believed, traversing the central core itself as if it were a spherical ball, give us a great amount of curious information concerning the nature and structure of the interior of our planet, thousands of miles beneath our feet.

One of the most interesting of the apparent facts thus developed is that the central part of the earth is as rigid as glass and as heavy as gold

Freight Train a Nuisance.

To the Friend of the People:

If I were a member of the Boston City Council I would hit hard that long freight train on Atlantic avenue, allowed to run at the busy hours of the day.

Over 250 or more commuters were forced to stand in rain the other morning till this snake-like train passed.

Boston, wake up! Freight trains on such streets should do most of their business in the night.

Chiropractic.

To the Friend of the People:

The citizens of Massachusetts are being denied their constitutional right to choose their own system of healing. The people have the benefits of dentistry and osteopathy only through the untiring efforts of the pioneer in these professions. Now comes chiropractic, and it is met with the same bitter opposition as its predecessors. A dying man may be denied the benefits of chiropractic simply because the chiropractor may be prosecuted for administering to the patient's needs. Twenty-six States have recognized this growing science and have suitable legislation governing the practice of it. Will Massachusetts be the last State in the Union to awaken?

Tired of Chopping Wood.

To the Friend of the People:

I landed in this city from the West, hoping to find some employment. It was a fruitless search. I am an educated man, but find nothing offered to me in the shape of work that I can do. There have been some days when I felt as hungry as a bear right here in Boston.

The women are more considerate of your feelings than the men. They are willing to hand you some food. There is one thing I am tired of, and that is chopping wood for a meal.
